October 2nd 2020 – Immediate release

Former Laser Quest Ottawa location will reopen as LaserMaxx Ottawa

Dutch laser tag manufacturer expects to reopen more locations in the near future

Bilthoven, October 2nd 2020. A week ago, laser tag manufacturer Laser Quest announced it is permanently shutting down all laser tag locations due to the ongoing COVID-19 crisis. Reason enough for Philip Aldis, former director of operations at Laser Quest, to contact the landlord of the Laser Quest Ottawa location to secure the location and LaserMaxx to provide the laser tag equipment. Dutch laser tag manufacturer LaserMaxx now announces that the laser tag location at 1800 St. Laurent Blvd will reopen next month under the name LaserMaxx Ottawa.

Marcel Röhrs, founder and owner of LaserMaxx Lasergames, is very happy with this new opening: “We are excited with this opening in Ottawa. Talks between Philip and us were to the point, fast and very pleasant. He has shown that he knows how to run a quality laser tag location, deliver an amazing laser tag experience to players and we are happy to be able to continue the tradition of laser tag in Ottawa, albeit with a different name and a different laser tag system.”

With the opening of the Ottawa location fast approaching, Röhrs expects more openings in the near future. ‘I am absolutely certain more LaserMaxx locations will open all across Canada, the United States and beyond. There are plenty laser tag locations that can hugely benefit from what we at LaserMaxx have to offer.’ Röhrs says that he welcomes all laser tag locations, open or closed, to contact him through his website at www.laserm maxx.com. For more information on the Ottawa opening or to book a game in advance he invites everyone to visit www.laserm maxxcanada.com.
